HOT SPRINGS.

Hot Springs, Va., May 1.—Many Washington people are now here in the large crowd, for the size of the resort, which is still keeping the Homestead Hotel and all the cottages jammed full over Sunday and nearly so throughout the week. There has been a spell of warm weather with the temperature much of the time over 80 degrees. This has brought the trees full leaf, and it is like midsummer. The golf links, upon which a great deal of work had been done, have especially improved.

Mrs. Melville E. Ingalls, of Washington, bought a Pomeranian the other day for which she paid $300. When her maid was walking it up and down in front of the Homestead last Sunday morning a pair of Pomeranian twins belonging to Mrs. C. Griggs Plant, of Boston, and which she held in her lap as she sat on the piazza, took an instant dislike to the Ingalls dog and immediately the three were a roaring mass of yelping fur. It took the good offices of everybody in sight to break up the fight during which a thousand dollars worth of dog was in great jeopardy.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Perrin, of Baltimore, have been spending a fortnight here, during which time Mr. Perrin has earned the reputation of being the best bridge player now at Hot Springs. The Perrins play with Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lewisohn as a rule. On Monday they varied the usual procedure by a motor trip to White Sulphur Springs in West Virginia where they lunched at the Greenbrier. The trip is a hundred miles of seascapes, saving over mountain ridges as well as any east of the Rockies.

Mrs. Winslow Williams, of Baltimore, who spent much of the winter at Palm Beach, is here for the spring season and, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Ann Williams, Mrs. Williams was hostess at a tea Wednesday afternoon on the lawn by the Homestead tennis courts.

George Ingalls, of Washington and Chicago, left here Sunday night in his private car for the latter city, taking Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Insull, of Chicago, with him. Mrs. Ingalls is remaining here where Mr. and Mrs. Insull usually spend their summers.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Beals McLean, of Washington, who had rented one of the villas here for May and June, have decided not to come. Mrs. Quincy A. Shaw, second, of Boston, who was with them at Palm Beach last winter, has arrived after visiting the McLeans at Greenwood, Va., where they have a country place.

Lieut. commander P. S. Foote, U. S. N., who is at present stationed with the General Electric Company in Schenectady, is here with Mrs. Foote, who is taking the three weeks' course of baths.

Messrs. Robert and Alfred Hatchell, of Washington, were hosts at a luncheon party they gave for several of their friends last Sunday afternoon at Passifern Farm.

The marked hardship shown here this week by James J. Van Allen, of Newport, who though having passed his allotted three score years and ten, can outside nearly any man half his age now coming to Hot Springs and outwalk all comers, has been a constant surprise to visitors. He walks the twenty miles to Passifern and back in less than double the time it takes to drive it and on one occasion this week rode his horse seven hours without getting out of the saddle. This was at the dedication of the Van Allen trail that will doubtless become the most famous of several that run up into the mountains from Hot Springs. It leads to Bald Knob, 550 feet higher than Flag Rock, here, the highest accessible peak in the locality. Mr. Van Allen suggested the route when he was here last fall. The christening ceremony Tuesday included the breaking of a bottle of champagne on the rocks where it starts.

The new attractiveness of the countryside in its fresh greenery perhaps a suggestion for many picnics held this week. Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Cady started the fashion last Sunday when they took thirty-five people for an all-day outing at Flag Rock. Most of the way they went on horseback and there was quite a caravan as they cantered out from the hotel at 11 o'clock trailed by two wagons, one bearing Schepp's colored orchestra and jubilee singers, and the other, cooks and waiters. The latter prepared a hot dinner which was served quite early in the afternoon, and then there was dancing by moonlight until late.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ellis, of New York, gave a picnic the same day for their children, Kenneth and Jean, and Mr. and Mrs. Rawson Wood's young son, O'Donnell. Iselin gave a picnic party for his daughter, Miss Adrianna Iselin, and Mr. and Mrs. C. Younglove gave one at Oak Grove for Miss Younglove, their daughter. Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Nash were hosts at a dinner at the Daniel Boone Cabin which the hosts and their guests followed by a moonlight stroll to the top of the mountain.

Followed by some of their intimate friends Fred C. Inman, nationally known in tennis circles, and Mrs. Edw. H. Piller, of Rosemont, who was one of the best women golfers, played a match the other day with the stakes at $5 a hole. Mrs. Piller had been going so well here it was thought to be an even contest without handicap. However, she came in three down, furnishing Inman with winnings that disappeared immediately after at the clubhouse where principles and gallery adjourned for refreshments.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Kluge, of New York, who have been spending a month here after a visit in Pinehurst, on the eve of their return home gave a dinner in the Japanese room of the Homestead a few nights ago, in honor
